PROTECTION

Managing your fire protection and life safety systems can feel like a daunting task – especially if you manage multiple service providers for installations, testing and maintenance schedules, repair orders and compliance. The Hiller Companies has a solution. American Fire Equipment and Systems Management Group, our divisions in the Colorado and Arizona markets, are pooling their resources to provide a wider array of offerings. This partnership, backed by the strength of Hiller, will allow you to streamline your services, maintenance and billing, as well as limit the numbers of technicians coming and going during this time of COVID-19. We want you to rest assured that you have quality products and systems that will operate as intended, that you can quickly and easily maintain those systems and when you need help, it is just one call away.
